

Women in History

Clara Barton

Clara Barton was a nurse who founded the American Red Cross and tended to wounded soldiers during the American Civil War.

Jane Goodall

Preview

Become a member to unlock unrestricted access to both printable
and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

Anne Frank, hiding from the Nazis during World War II, penned a powerful diary that symbolizes the Holocaust. Her words, full of resilience, still inspire readers.

Annelies M

Ada Lovelace

Ada Lovelace was the first computer programmer. She wrote the first algorithm for the stage for Charles Babbage's Analytical Engine.

Mother Teresa

Mother Teresa was a selfless humanitarian who dedicated her life to serving the poor and destitute in India and around the world.

Harriet Tubman, known as the "Moses" of her people, escaped slavery and led numerous others to freedom on the Underground Railroad during the 19th century.

Women in History

Florence Nightingale

Florence Nightingale is known as the "Lady with the Lamp," for her pioneering work in medical care for wounded soldiers in the Crimean War, which led to the development of modern nursing.

Marie Curie

Preview

Become a member to unlock
unrestricted access to both printable
and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

Maya Angelou

Maya Angelou was a celebrated African American poet, novelist, and civil rights activist. She is known for her powerful words and her advocacy for social justice.

Helen

Helen Keller, deaf and blind since childhood, became an author, lecturer, and advocate for people with disabilities, overcoming immense challenges.

Earhart

Amelia Earhart, a pioneering aviator, was the first woman to solo fly across the Atlantic Ocean, blazing a trail in aviation.

Queen Victoria, one of the longest-reigning British monarchs, presided over a significant era of British history and expansion.

Women in History

Jane Austen

Jane Austen, a celebrated for class and "Prejudice" and "Sensibility," known for her social insight

Rosa Parks

Preview

Become a member to unlock
unrestricted access to both printable
and online worksheets.

www.tutoringhour.com

Jane A

Jane Addams, a Nobel laureate and social reformer, is renowned for establishing Hull House in Chicago. She advocated for social justice and women's rights.

Sally Ride, the first American woman in space, worked to promote science education and inspire young girls to pursue STEM careers.