

Main Idea

Answer Key

Read each passage and write the main idea and title. (Answers may vary.)

1 True leadership is about leading by example. Whether in school, sports, or at home, a good leader shows respect, honesty, and hard work. It's not just about giving orders or telling others what to do; it's about being the kind of person others can look up to. Leaders who show kindness, treat people fairly, and take responsibility for their actions, inspire others to do the same. When you lead by example, you build trust and create a positive environment where everyone feels valued and motivated to do their best.

Main Idea: True leadership is to set a positive example through respect, honesty, and hard work. Leaders inspire others by being kind, fair, and responsible, creating an environment of trust and motivation.

Title: Leading by Example

2 American history is filled with important moments that shaped the nation. One of the most significant events was the Declaration of Independence in 1776, which declared the 13 colonies' freedom from Britain. Another turning point was the Civil Rights Movement, which fought for equal rights for all citizens, regardless of race. These key moments remind us that history is shaped by those who work to bring about change. By learning about these events, we understand the struggles and triumphs that have shaped America and how the country continues to evolve in the pursuit of freedom and equality for everyone.

Main Idea: Key events such as the Declaration of Independence and the Civil Rights Movement have shaped America's pursuit of freedom and equality.

Title: Key Moments in American History